

It takes thirteen folds to properly fold our Nation's flag: two lengthwise folds and eleven triangular folds. Some people have found significance in that fact, linking the number 13 with the thirteen original colonies, and they have attempted to attach a special meaning to each fold. In fact, the flag is folded thirteen times in order to achieve a compact and pleasing result; the number 13 is coincidental.

This is where you tell other people about your club or association. Send us a completed paragraph, or, if you prefer, send us a brief description of your organization and tell us about all of the wonderful things you do. Our editors will take it from there. We'll write a statement for you, and send you an electronic file so that you can have your customs tri-fold brochures printed locally.

The International Commodores Association is dedicated to keeping alive the flame of yachting traditions throughout the world. Its mission is to establish a community of ladies and gentlemen who are officers and supporters of yacht clubs and yachting associations and who will promote the customs and courtesies of yachting through educational, charitable and social programs. ICA Members who complete the educational program are awarded the title of Fellow of the Association.
